Because of Power Failure

Fluorspar Miners Climb Out Shafts

About Town

And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

NOTE BY T.T. — Our Mrs. Se-right, who has been visiting relatives in California for the past several weeks, has been writing of some of the spots of interest she has visited. This is the last of the series.

Some time ago I read in The Register that Ernie Brashear Jr. was in Burbank, employed in the city business office, and when we were invited by some friends over there for lunch, I called him and he met us.

Knowing he had been connected with the National Broadcasting Company, and had an interest in radio and TV, I asked if he could secure us some tickets to some good broadcasts.

He said he would be pleased to do so and could get us admitted to all shows we wanted to see.

We selected "People are Funny" and "This is Your Life." I had been to many radio broadcasts, but this was my first experience at seeing television.

At the Art Linkletter show, we counted 18 men on the stage with cameras, in addition to the girls with prompting cards. There was a large balcony with six cameramen in addition to those manning the lights, and the directors were in a glass enclosed room back of the audience.

This was a live show, but was being filmed for future telecasts—probably not until this fall.

Between scenes, Art Linkletter would come out in front of the curtain, sit on a stool and would answer questions from the audience and tell funny anecdotes in reminiscing over things that had happened during 25 years he has been broadcasting.

The make-up man would touch up his face and groom his hair while he was talking and they and the camera men seemed to enjoy Art's jokes as much as we did, indicating it was a pleasure for them to work with him.

February 26 we went to Burbank to see "This is Your Life." This was a direct telecast, so a little different. The spotlight was thrown first into the audience, and Vincent Tracy was introduced. He sat near Don Murray and Hope Lang.

The announcer told of Tracy's

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill. (UP) — Hundreds of miners were caught underground when a heavy snowfall snapped a 69,000-volt electrical line, cutting off power to Hardin and Gallatin counties.

The break Thursday forced between 400 and 500 fluorspar miners in at least six shafts to climb ladders or use hand-cranked cable cars to reach the surface.

Two exhausted mine workers told of climbing a 688-foot ladder "straight up" before reaching daylight, while six others said they climbed 567-feet.

The line snapped between Muddy and Ridgway, leaving much of Gallatin and all of Hardin County, except Rosiclare, without power. Rosiclare received power from an Aluminum Company of America generator.

Attempts by residents to secure gasoline proved fruitless since there was no electricity to operate the pumps.

Up to seven inches of snow blanketed southern Illinois from Cairo north to Effingham.

In Marion, where at least three inches were recorded, Eugene Bond, 72, suffered a fatal heart attack while getting a bucket of coal.

Meanwhile, another power failure cut telephone service from Marion to Harrisburg and curtailed long distance calls from Marion to Chicago, St. Louis and Centralia.

School children at Johnston City were dismissed early because of hazardous road conditions and several Marion school buses were unable to pick up students because of snow-slicked roads.

Police said "dozens" of cars skidded into ditches or slipped across the highways, causing traffic tie-ups.

Nixon, Pat to Visit S. America

WASHINGTON (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his wife Pat will make a two-week good will visit to South America beginning April 27.

Nixon will represent President Eisenhower at the May 1 inauguration of Argentine President-elect Arturo Frondizi in Buenos Aires.

Nixon's four-nation itinerary will be announced later, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said. The vice president's most likely stops would be Uruguay, Peru, and Venezuela. He will return home about May 10.

Diplomatic observers interpreted Nixon's trip as an administration answer to Democratic charges that top U. S. policy makers are neglecting this country's Latin American neighbors.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles also was reported considering a trip to South America later this year. He probably would visit some of the countries Nixon misses.

Snowfall Measures Four and Half Inches

Snowfall in Harrisburg yesterday measured approximately four and one-half inches, Harrison Kibler, who keeps precipitation records for the U. S. government, stated.

Mr. Kibler said the precipitation was 72 inch.

Two Runs by Fire Department

The fire department made a run at 11:15 a. m. yesterday to the Benjamin Henning home in East Harrisburg. Wallpaper had caught fire around the stove in the living room and there was smoke and water damage.

At 8:45 last night the department went to the Earl Bristow home at 1131 Washington street, where the furnace had filled the house with smoke.

Cannon Booms Announcement of Birth of Boy to Princess Grace

MONTE CARLO (UP)—The boom of ancient saluting cannon here today signaled the birth of a boy to Princess Grace — an heir to the throne of tiny Monaco.

The cannon boomed 101 times, and with the 22nd "shot" a surge of excitement raced across this resort principality. If Grace's second child had been a girl like her first, only 21 guns would have fired.

The 8-pound, 8-ounce prince was delivered at 10:50 a. m. by a team headed by Paris gynecologist Emile Hervet — the same doctor who officiated at the birth 15 months ago of Princess Caroline.

The new baby, Prince Albert Alexandre Louis Pierre, will take royal precedence over his older sister because of his sex. He will be called Prince Albert.

Hervet was assisted today by two other doctors — baby specialist Paul Gandelon and surgeon Maurice Donat — and a nurse, Suzanne Leclerc.

The first word of the prince's sex came unofficially from an unidentified girl who opened a ground-floor window at the palace and shouted to newsmen: "It's a boy!"

The news was confirmed officially a few minutes later.

The birth of an heir to Prince Rainier will continue the rule in Monaco of the Grimaldi family, which has provided its princes almost continuously since 1297.

The tiny prince weighed four ounces more than his sister at birth and measured 20½ inches long. He has light blue eyes and chestnut brown hair.

Caroline, born a redhead, is now a blonde.

All Monaco was ablaze today with Monacan flags, in honor of Rainier and Albert, and U. S. flags for Grace — the former Grace Kelly of Philadelphia and Hollywood.

Saturday will be a holiday for school children, government workers and Monacan employees of the Monte Carlo casino.

House Republicans Call For Quick Passage Of Housing Bill

Stratton to Discuss Speeding Up Public Works

Governor to Meet
With State Officials,
Toll Road Commission

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Gov. Stratton will meet here next week with state officials and Toll Road Commission authorities to discuss possible means of speeding up public work projects in Illinois to combat unemployment.

Possible methods of encouraging local governments to speed up their public works programs also will be discussed, an aide to the governor said Thursday.

The meeting will be held Wednesday.

Stratton told a recent news conference that the state was already "in pretty good shape" with about 400 million dollars worth of construction work "ready to go."

This figure, as outlined by the governor, included highway and toll road construction, work at the Chicago Medical Center and various other projects.

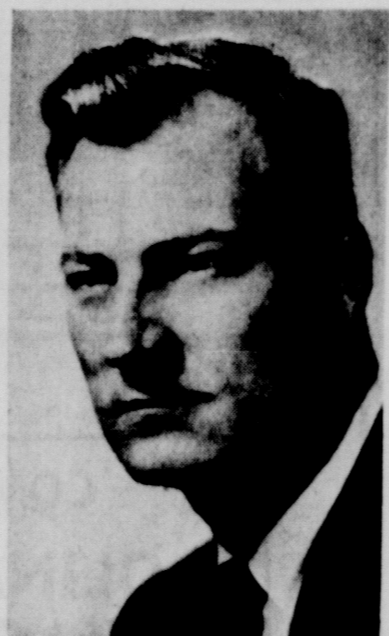

Earlier this week the state Labor Department reported a decrease, the first since last October, in the number of persons receiving unemployment compensation and the number of new compensation claims.

But the department indicated that there still were large numbers of unemployed in machinery, steel and other basic industries.

February unemployment figures for the state will not be available for about two weeks.

Among those asked to attend the meeting with the governor were Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, Schools Supt. Vernon L. Nickell, Toll Road Chairman Austin Wyman, Public Works Director E. A. Rosenstone, Aeronautics Director Arthur E. Abney, Welfare Director Otto L. Bettag, Conservation Director Glen D. Palmer, Finance Director Morton H. Hollingsworth, Agriculture Director Stillman J. Stanard, Public Safety Director Joseph D. Bibb, Chief Highway Engineer Ralph Bartelsmeyer and state architect J. D. Jarvis.

Senate Passes Bill to Freeze Price Props; See House Approval

Doubt Congress
Can Enact Measure
Into Law Over Veto

WASHINGTON (UP)—Democratic farm leaders today forecast quick House approval of a Senate move to block the administration's scheduled slashes in farm price supports and planting allotments.

But they acknowledged the measure repudiating administration farm policies doesn't have enough backing in Congress to be enacted into law over the presidential veto that Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson says is "almost certain."

Benson voiced his warning Thursday a few hours before the Senate passed the resolution 50 to 43. It would freeze price props and acreage allotments indefinitely at "not less" than 1957 levels.

The Senate measure, although technically a "resolution," would have the effect of law if passed by Congress and signed by President Eisenhower.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.) summoned the House Agriculture Committee to vote on the measure Monday. He said the committee would approve it and he hoped the House could complete action and send it to the President by the end of next week.

There was no advance sign of any concerted drive by administration leaders to wage an all-out fight on the House floor against the measure. GOP House leaders said they hadn't taken a firm position, as yet.

In the Senate 39 Democrats and 11 Republicans teamed up to pass the measure opposed by 35 Republicans and eight Democrats.

If enacted, the measure would veto cuts ordered by Benson in supports for dairy products, wheat, rice, beans, flaxseed, and several feed grains.

Except for tobacco and corn grown by farmers who ignore planting allotments, the measure would require that price supports and planting allotments for all crops be maintained at not less than 1957 levels until such time as Congress enacts new farm legislation.

The Senate after passing the general price freeze rejected by an identical vote — 50 to 43 — a separate measure designed to block a scheduled reduction April 1 in the support prices for dairy products.

The second move was sponsored by dairy state Republicans who contended that the President might sign such a resolution while vetoing the general price freeze.

The price freeze resolution was a direct challenge to administration farm policy. It would order Benson to "freeze" nearly all farm price supports and planting allotments at not less than 1957 levels until Congress acts on long-range farm legislation.

Soil District Board Discusses Plans of Informing Public on Saline River Bill

Representative
Also to Attend
SVDA Meetings

The board of directors of the Saline County Soil Conservation district meeting Thursday night at the Harrisburg city hall, discussed plans of action toward informing the people of the Saline river flood control bill.

The board discussed the recent action in the U. S. House of Representatives in passing the bill which authorized a flood prevention project for the Saline river and three forks of the river and plans to inform the people of this proposal in event the bill is signed by the President.

Favored by the board was to have a representative of the SCS district attend the public meetings of the Saline Valley Development Association with authorization to offer the districts co-operation with those projects which are related to the work of the district.

Directors and associate directors present were Alva Gholson, Ewell

Harris, Paul Halbersleben, Cecil Nelson, Carl Vance and Lowell Wise. Others present were Harry Gearhart, area conservationist from Mt. Vernon, Ill., and Tom Morgan of Harrisburg, work unit conservationist.

Mr. Harris reported that one implementing dealer of the county had expressed an interest in co-operating with the district in a Conservation Field Day activity this summer. This matter will be studied further and a decision made as to what activities could be carried out in such an event.

An inter-agency meeting will be sponsored by the district in April. Efforts will be made to secure as speaker, Frank Purnell, extension soil conservationist, University of Illinois.

New co-operators with the district approved by the board were Ray Cook, Don R. Riley, Marion H. Grisham, Mrs. Columbus Johns and Mrs. Millie O'Keefe.

Mr. Gearhart reviewed the district work load with the board with the idea of organizing the district operations in such a manner as

AFL-CIO Urges President Eisenhower to Cut Taxes; Says Recession Worse

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republicans seized the initiative in the anti-recession drive today and called for immediate House passage of a Democratic-sponsored housing bill.

The 13 House Banking Committee Republicans voted unanimously to press for immediate action on the bill, which already has been passed by the Senate. The measure is intended to stimulate home building and relieve unemployment.

The AFL-CIO, meantime, brought new pressure on the administration for a tax cut. The labor federation published a memorandum purporting to show that the recession is growing worse and unemployment is climbing.

The administration has been holding off on a tax cut or other drastic action in the hope that March will bring an upturn in employment and "the beginning of the end" of the recession.

Predict More Jobless

The AFL-CIO memorandum, headed President Eisenhower Thursday by labor leaders during a White House conference, said a forthcoming government report will show that industrial production continued its sharp decline during February.

The production index, based on the 1947-49 average, was at 133 points in January, representing a sharp decline from previous highs. The AFL-CIO did not speculate on the February figure — to be announced Monday — but official sources said there would be a "further slight decline" of one to three points.

The labor federation's memo said cutbacks in auto and steel production and initial claims for unemployment benefits show that unemployment in March will be at least as high as the 5,200,000 figure in February and may climb even higher.

Labor economists have predicted privately that perhaps another 200,000 persons will join the jobless ranks this month.

The AFL-CIO is slugging for a broad anti-recession program featuring an immediate cut in income taxes. It wants as a starter an increase from $600 to $700 in personal exemptions to put additional purchasing power in the hands of consumers.

Urges Housing Bill

The administration is mapping plans for a tax cut for both business firms and individuals, but is holding it up pending another look at economic indicators.

The Democratic-sponsored housing bill, which would pump $1,800,000,000 in federal funds into the home-building market, has been held on Speaker Sam Rayburn's desk since the Senate passed it last Wednesday.

The Banking Committee Republicans called on Rayburn and other Democratic leaders to steer the bill to committee or take whatever steps are necessary to assure quick House action. The House is in recess until Monday so nothing concrete can be done with the GOP proposal until then.

Consider Tax Measure
Any tax cut offered by the administration and voted by Congress, to be effective in fighting the recession, would have to be applied immediately on its enactment.

"A tax cut that would just put a couple of bucks in the consumer's pocket would not be enough," one informant said. He indicated the proposed cut would be somewhat similar to the administration-backed 1954 tax cut which gave major benefits to business firms and stockholders but also boosted deductions for medical expenses, retired workers and farmers.

Two More B47s Explode; Five Dead, One Hurt

TULSA, Okla. (UP) — An Air Force B47, the same type of airplane from which an atomic bomb accidentally fell Tuesday, exploded over Tulsa Thursday. One man was killed and another seriously injured.

The Air Force quickly announced that the plane was not carrying a nuclear weapon.

It was the second explosion of a B47 during the day. A B47 burst into flames and exploded after taking off from the Strategic Air Command base at Homestead, Fla., killing all four crewmembers.

Fiery debris from the Homestead plane fell over a two-mile radius, barely missing a large number of Puerto Rican laborers who were working in nearby fields.

In the Tulsa blast the six-jet medium bomber was on a routine training mission from McConnell Air Force Base at Wichita, Kan., when it disintegrated over southeast Tulsa. There appeared to be two separate explosions.

The blasts shattered the $1,900,000 bomber into fragments which rained down on scores of houses but injured no one on the ground.

A B47 on Tuesday accidentally dropped an atomic bomb near Florence, S. C., exploding the triggering device containing TNT which injured six persons and badly damaged a house.

And yet, truth to tell, he does have one regret. For he knows that he needn't have waited this long, had he but realized what an easy step it is from dreaming of a Cadillac to driving in a Cadillac.

Like a great many motorists, for instance, he was not aware that a Cadillac—in view of its obvious virtues—could be so modest in price.

Nor did he appreciate, until the facts were presented, how economical a Cadillac is to maintain or how wonderfully it holds its value over the years.

And little did he suspect how accommodating his dealer would be in welcoming him to membership in the great and distinguished family of Cadillac owners.

So, if you have your heart set on a Cadillac, you should hesitate no longer to investigate this happy set of circumstances.

STONEFORT SCHOOL NEWS

By CAROL Bainbridge

The pupils of Mrs. Nulty's room have been making some very colorful trays from papier mache in their art work. The girls are also learning how to embroidery. So, we should become good home makers some of these days.

The primary room had a surprise birthday party Tuesday afternoon, March 4. The surprise was for Mable and Mona Joyner. Mrs. Joyner served refreshments to the thirty-six pupils in the room along with Miss Casey. The occasion was unique for the reason Monday, March 3, there were three birthdays and the children were all the same age, but from different families. They were Mable Joyner, Jackie McCabe and Harry Martin. This was the first time in Miss Casey's teaching experience that she remembers three birthdays on the same day and the same age and none of them from the same family.

Another unusual thing was the fact that for one day Mable Joyner was as old as her sister, Mona. Mable was 8 on March 3 and Mona was 9 on March 4. The children have had all of their shots and vaccinations now for the year, and we hope that there will be no more sore arms until we receive our booster shots next year.

The following is a list of honor students for the past six weeks from Mr. Smith's and Mrs. Nulty's rooms: fourth grade—Steven Lay, Patsy Reynolds, Davy Hill and Beverly Stricklin; fifth grade—James Milburn and Renita Martin; sixth grade—Steven McCormick, Jamima Smith, Martha Hill, Charles Joyner, Shirley Reynolds, Linda Phillips and Leonard Mitchell.

Leopold to Leave Tonight For Puerto Rico

CHICAGO (AP)—Nathan Leopold, having trouble "getting lost" after a third of a century behind bars, will leave by plane at 8 o'clock tonight for Puerto Rico where he hopes a mountain hospital hideaway will shield him from prying eyes.

Leopold, released on parole Thursday, spent his first day and a half of freedom in a plush 15th floor apartment of a college chum who knew him as the 19-year-old genius who helped commit the 1924 slaying of Bobby Franks, 14, in "the crime of the century."

Leopold, 53, became violently ill on a 40-mile ride from Stateville Prison outside Joliet to Chicago. However, he awoke this morning refreshed, his host, Abel Brown, reported, and spent the day "relaxing." He left the apartment on the Lake Michigan shore only once—to see a doctor Thursday night.

His attorney, Elmer Gertz, who also stayed the night in the apartment, said Leopold went to bed after 1 a. m. and got up after 7:30 in contrast to the routine at prison. However, Leopold has kept his silence.

"He has said surprisingly little from what must be on his mind," the lawyer said. "And we are careful not to pry."

News and camera men camped in the corridors outside the apartment awaiting developments from Leopold, who can be sent back to prison for violation of his parole for granting an interview of any sort.

To keep his "solemn pledge," Leopold made himself a virtual prisoner in the apartment.

by ED LACY

THE STORY: David Wintino, youngest detective on the New York police force, returns home later after investigating the murder of a former policeman. His wife Mary isn't reconciled to being married to a detective.

II

The beat cop, an old beer hound, slipped Lampkin a half-hearted salute as he told him, "I found him at six minutes before two, Walter—Captain. Only witness we got so far is this man"—he jerked a big thumb at a frightened young colored fellow in work pants and a torn army jacket—"who says he was coming out after delivering an order, groceries, when he seen the stiff. He yelled and I come a-running from the corner."

"I never saw him before! I know nothing except the mon is stretched on the bloody stone!" the delivery man said nervously. He spoke with a kind of British accent.

Lieutenant Reed gave Danny the eye. Danny went over and said softly, "Relax, and tell me exactly what you saw. You're in no trouble. What island you from?"

"Trinidad, and I'm here all legal and—"

"Sure," Dan said gently. "My old man was from Barbados. Let's you and me step over here and talk a little."

The alley began to fill up fast as the routine went into full swing. Some big cluck from Homicide was there, looking very important, a heavy-set square whose suit was too small—probably didn't know yet that big men can't buy bargain clothes.

He had a fat baby mouth and a necklace of chains. When he first saw me he asked, "What you doing here, sonny? The super's son?"

When Reed said, "He's one of my squad, Detective Wintino," this big hunk of blubber did a hammy double-take as he said, "He don't look old enough to be a Boy Scout."

In less than 15 minutes the photographers and lab men had finished. The stiff was Edward Owens, a retired cop—he had his Police Benevolent Association card in his wallet, along with a buck and a Chinese laundry ticket. He was working as a messenger for a brokerage house down on Wall Street. His gun, a .38 Police Special, hadn't been used and he'd been killed with one slug through the heart, fired at fairly close range. Reed had a couple of more detectives working and they hadn't found anybody who had heard the shot or noticed anyone in the service entrance. Lampkin had called downtown for a detail to go to the brokerage house and have everybody there stand still. The Homicide clown decided he'd better go down too and Reed said, "Dave will drive you. He's a speed boy."

I sirened the car down West End Avenue, then cut over to the West Side Highway. The lump was named Anderson and he chewed on a wad of gum and told me, "All right, Sonny, the guy's long dead, won't make no diff to him if we get downtown in 10 minutes or 50 minutes."

"Relax, you're still breathing—or are you?"

"Don't know what the force is coming to, punks like you not old enough to have the milk on your mouth dry or—"

"Fatstuff, you already made too many cracks about my being young. You want to guess ages get a job in Coney Island."

"Maybe you're right. Young as you look you must be the mayor's son to be on the force." He sighed again, tried to calm his nerves by working on his gun. "How do you like this Owens working as a messenger?"

"Probably had a pension of three grand. I'm only making a couple bucks more than that now."

Anderson shrugged, nearly put his big feet through the floorboard as I cut around a car. "I could take my pension today but with prices so high, what's the use. Pension is okay if you already got your house paid up, the kids set, no sickness. Only how can you ever get that far ahead on our salary? Wintino—"

... You're the rookie who made the big arrest couple months ago. Sure, I remember now, this drunk parked next to a hydrant and he turned out to be the psycho who knocked off all them women. A lucky collar."

"Yeah." Everybody called it pure luck, forgot that if I hadn't been thinking of those four dames with the battered heads all the time, I wouldn't have connected the rusty length of iron pipe in the glove compartment with the women."

There was a radio car parked in front of the office building and as we braked to a stop, the siren still working, I gave my hair a pat as I jumped out. I don't believe in looking sloppy. A well-built, solid-looking cop said to Anderson, "I've been holding an elevator for you. Room 619." It wasn't hard to spot Anderson for a dick.

The brokerage firm was a suite of three large offices with about a half a dozen stenographers and typewriters. They all stopped talking when we came in. A cop was talking to a tall thin guy wearing a dull gray suit and one of these old-fashioned pop-em-low ties that had to be at least 10 years old.

Anderson flashed his badge and so did I, but mine was on my belt. May look corny but I like to have both hands free. The cop nodded at the bag of bones, said, "This is Al Wales."

"I'm a retired detective. Fact is Ed and I were partners. If you'll step in here," Wales motioned with his head toward a small office, "I can give you all the dope you need. We'd also appreciate it if you'd remove the officer from the door and let business go on as usual. You know how it is, looks bad for a house dealing in bonds."

"The cop stays," Anderson said. "You in charge here?"

"No, I'm merely a part-time messenger, like Ed is—was. Step into the office and I'll have Mr. Stewart, our manager, join us."

The office was four plain chairs around a polished oak table with a clean glass ash tray in the center. There were a couple of framed pictures of apartment houses on the walls. Wales called out something to one of the girls as we went in and Anderson planted his large backside on the table. A plump joker with crew-cut hair, expensive brown pin-stripe suit and a sweet tie strode into the office. I mean strode, he must have practiced it. He said, "Gentlemen! I'm Harris Stewart, office manager. Mr. Wyckoff, president of the firm, is in Washington. This is indeed a terrible piece of news about Mr. Owens. Simply incredible—there's absolutely no point to a robbery."

"Where was Owens going?" Anderson asked.

"According to the time sheet, he checked out at five after one to deliver the bonds to a client, a Mr. Jensen McCarthy who lives at 316 West End Avenue. Mr. Owens never delivered the bonds so we—"

"How do you know he didn't?" I asked as Anderson gave me an annoyed look.

"Mr. McCarthy was waiting for them and he phoned a few minutes before you, that is the police, called to tell us the horrible news. McCarthy was in a hurry to leave for his house in Westhampton and asked where our messenger was. We must assume it was robbery although I can't understand it. Naturally we have a list of the bonds in my office."

"A guy carrying bonds is robbed and killed," Anderson said. "What's there hard to understand about that?"

"But the bonds are not negotiable, they're worthless except to the owner," Stewart said waving his manicured hands.

"We didn't find any bonds on him," Anderson said. "If they were worthless why did you need an armed messenger?"

Stewart's eyebrows shot up. "Armed?"

Anderson nodded. "He was packing a gun, never had a chance to use it. You didn't know he carried a gun?"

"I most certainly did not. The firm never asked or authorized any employee to carry a gun." Stewart turned to Wales. "Did you know about the gun?"

Wales said, "The gun had nothing to do with the job. Most retired cops get a permit to carry a gun. You know that, Anderson. Did it look like Ed was in a fight?"

"No. No bruises. One shot through the heart did it." Anderson turned to Stewart. "Bond messengers have to use the service entrance?"

"No."

"Owens was killed in an alley leading to the service door."

"That don't make sense," Wales said. "He never used any back doors. And Ed was a quick guy with his hands and his gun—when he was younger. Hard to believe he'd be taken without some kind of battle."

"Well, there wasn't any, as far as we can tell. Either Owens handed over the bonds like he was told, and was shot, or he was shot before he knew what it was all about. And all over bonds that weren't worth a thin dime—a real dumb killing." Anderson said.

DAR Denies Good Citizenship Award To Refugee Girl

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Daughters of the American Revolution says it denied a good citizenship award to a refugee East German girl because it feels such recognition should go to an American citizen.

The DAR declared its record of service and "kindliness" to non-citizens of this country "will stand the closest scrutiny."

Mrs. Frederick Groves, DAR president general, issued the statement Thursday night in answer to criticism of the organization for disqualifying Ilse Naujoks, 17, Marlboro, Mass., from consideration for the award.

After the DAR in Marlboro disapproved Ilse there were protests from Marlboro residents.

Ilse, who escaped from Communist East Germany a few years ago, was selected by the faculty and classmates of Marlboro High School last month for the DAR honor.

The girl, a honey blonde with blue eyes, stands third in her class of 101 students.

The uproar from Marlboro reached Beacon Hill in Boston where Acting Gov. Robert F. Murphy ordered a special "good citizens" citation for Ilse.

Father Hurls Two Children Into Icy Ohio River

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—A 33-year-old steel worker told police Thursday night he threw his two children from the Fort Henry bridge and into the icy waters of the Ohio River.

Police at first were reluctant to believe John W. Turner when he told them he had hurled his son, John Jr., 4, and daughter, Betty Marie, 7, from the span.

But police said, small footprints leading to the railing of the bridge and children's fingerprints on the railing convinced them he was telling the truth.

Turner could give no reason for his action. He said he loved them and his wife, Betty. The distraught mother could not offer an explanation. She said that she and her husband were getting along "fine."

Police said they believed the couple had quarreled and he left their home in anger, taking the children with him.

Eisenhower and Macmillan to Map Strategy

LONDON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will map point-by-point strategy for a proposed summit conference when they meet in Washington in June, British sources said today.

The joint announcement that Macmillan will visit the U. S. capital three months from now was taken here as an indication that the proposed meeting of leaders of East and West will not be held until September at earliest.

Sources close to the British government predicted that arrangements for the summit meeting will proceed in three steps:

—A conference of foreign ministers in Geneva in late April and early May to work out agenda for the top-level meeting and decide whether it shall be held—perhaps in Washington.

—The Eisenhower-Macmillan meeting.

—Consultations through July and August to set the state for a meeting in September.

Macmillan and Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd are known to be more anxious than U. S. leaders to confer with Russia's leaders in a meeting which Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has warned might turn out to be a "fraud."

The announcement of the Eisenhower-Macmillan meeting, was taken as an indication that the U. S. attitude is softening.

Macmillan ostensibly is going to the United States for the primary purpose of receiving an honorary degree on June 8, from DePaul University where his maternal grandfather studied medicine.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mayor Raymond R. Tucker has announced that federal surplus food to needy unemployed will be distributed by the city of St. Louis.

Tucker conferred with federal and state officials Thursday to organize the machinery for distribution. The cost to the city could not be immediately determined, but Oscar F. Beyer, midwestern Agriculture Department supervisor, said in other areas the cost had averaged 20 cents per case per month.

Kansas State's Winter Named Coach of Year

NEW YORK — Tex Winter of Kansas State, "boy wonder" of the Big Eight Conference, today was voted the 1957-58 college basketball coach of the year in the annual United Press poll.

Winter, 36, who earned his coaching spurs under Sam Barry and Jack Gardner and has won two conference championships in his five seasons at Kansas State, was the choice of 74 of the 236 sports writers and broadcasters who voted for the United Press All-America team.

Fred Schaus of West Virginia received 42 votes for second place, while Phil Woolpert of San Francisco, was third with 19 votes. Rounding out the top five were Harry Litwack of Temple and George Smith of Cincinnati.

Red Birds Oust Carrier Mills From Sectional Tournament Here, 76-55

The state basketball title possibly could be decided tonight right here in Harrisburg when the powerful West Frankfort Red Birds and the Mount Vernon Rams meet at eight o'clock for the championship of the Harrisburg sectional.

Of course, the winner will have to cop the first round of the state meet at West Frankfort next Tuesday night, then win three games at Champaign, but this is not out of the question. Both competing teams tonight have the ability to go all the way.

West Frankfort is the more rugged of the two outfits, but Mount Vernon plays a sound game, makes few mistakes, profits by the mistakes of its opponent, and can throw the best defense in southern Illinois at the other team's offense. The Rams are noted for being a good tournament team.

Large Crowd at Game
About 3,000 fans poured into Davenport gym to see the Red Birds of George Lubelt defeat Carrier Mills, 76 to 55, in the second session last night. The evening before Mount Vernon had beaten Metropolis, 92 to 43.

Last night's contest was really more interesting than the 21-point margin indicated. In fact,

Willis Expresses Appreciation for Support

Carrier Mills Coach A. L. Willis, speaking for the team, this morning expressed appreciation for the support given the Wildcats.

"We received many telegrams of congratulations and best wishes from players and fans throughout the area. And last night there were many fans from neighboring communities hoping to see a small school win from the favorite, but we just weren't up to it.

"The wonderful support is appreciated and we are sorry we didn't make a better showing," Willis declared.

Carrier Mills and West Frankfort played on even scoring terms the second half after the Birds had run up the 21-point difference the first two quarters.

Frankfort ran up a 21-7 lead on Coach A. L. Willis' Wildcats the first period as the Birds hit 10 out of 15 from the field, fantastic shooting. Big gun was husky Francis Florian, who at 6-2 weighs about 220 pounds. Big Francis in the first half connected on nine out of 11 attempts from the field for 18 points and he copped the scoring honors for the evening with 25.

The half ended with Frankfort out in front, 41-20.

Taborn Scores 17 Points
Gary Taborn, diminutive 5-6 guard for Carrier Mills, began hitting the third quarter and the Wildcats outscored the Birds, 17-15, in this frame. In the last quarter the Wildcats were outscored but 20-18. That gave each team 35 points for the last half. Taborn was high scorer for Carrier Mills with 17 points, closely followed by Vern Rollins, 16. Rollins did a fine job of rebounding among Frankfort's big boys.

Official statistics show that West Frankfort shot a phenomenal .593 from the field, connecting with 32 out of 54. Carrier Mills shot .323, hitting 20 out of 62. Frankfort made 12 out of 19 free throws, Carrier Mills 15 out of 30.

There will be 3,500 seats, plus some standing and possible floor-sitting room, for tonight's classic, which could shape up into as fine a tilt as the Mount Vernon-Mount Carmel championship game here four years ago. Mount Carmel's team featured Archie Dees, who this year was unanimous all-Big Ten center playing for Indiana University, but Mount Vernon won here and went on to win the state meet at Champaign.

Top Teams Open Bids for NCAA Championship

By United Press
Cincinnati, San Francisco, Kansas State and Temple will launch their bids for the NCAA basketball championship tonight with their collective fingers crossed.

The four teams that finished behind West Virginia in the final United Press ratings hope to avoid the same fate that befell the top-ranked Mountaineers, who were rudely bounced from the playoffs by upstart Manhattan at New York Tuesday night.

Eight games will be staged at four regional sites tonight, with the teams lining up this way:
At Charlotte, N. C.: Temple (24-2) vs. Maryland (21-6) and Manhattan (16-8) vs. Dartmouth (21-4).

At Lexington, Ky.: Notre Dame (23-4) vs. Indiana (12-10) and Kentucky (19-6) vs. Miami of Ohio (18-7).

At Lawrence, Kan.: Kansas State (20-3) vs. Cincinnati (24-2) and Oklahoma State (20-7) vs. Arkansas (18-8).

At San Francisco: Idaho State (22-4) vs. California (19-8) and San Francisco (24-1) vs. Seattle (20-5).

The winners will meet Saturday night on the same courts for the right to represent their regions in the semifinals at Louisville, Ky., next weekend.

St. John's of New York and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia got off flying in the opening round of the National Invitational Tournament at Madison Square Garden. The Redmen conquered Butler, 76-69, and St. Joseph's turned back St. Peter's, 83-72.

Herrin Forced Into Overtime To Win Sectional Tilt From Tamms, 82 To 78

By United Press
Defending state champion Herrin was forced into overtime Thursday night before it squeaked to an 82-78 prep basketball victory over little Tamms and gained a spot among the 32 teams that will do battle tonight for membership in the exclusive "Sweet Sixteen."

In other top games Thursday night, West Frankfort's Redbirds topped Carrier Mills, 76-55, to set up what should be one of the top games tonight against Mount Vernon, and Kewanee nipped Canton, 55-54, in a "sudden death" overtime.

Charlie Vaughn, the 6-3 Negro star who has scored more points over the past four years than any other individual in state high school basketball history, sparked Tamms to a 74-74 deadlock with favored Herrin at the end of regulation play at Pinckneyville.

But in the overtime, Herrin's Richard Box, who sat out most of the game with an injured ankle, popped in four points to help the Tigers clinch victory and the right to meet East St. Louis Lincoln tonight.

Kewanee vs. Peoria Spalding
Vaughn racked up 37 points for Tamms to make his four year total 3,342, while Gene Turner netted 25 to lead Herrin.

West Frankfort jumped off to a 21-7 first quarter lead at Harrisburg and never was headed by Carrier Mills. Francis Florian paced the Red Bird attack with 25 points and Gary Taborn bagged 17 for the losers.

The West Frankfort-Mount Vernon clash tonight will be the fourth meeting of the two teams this season, and West Frankfort holds a 2-1 edge. But four points was the widest margin in any of the games.

At Canton, Kewanee and the host team were knotted 51-51 at the end of regulation time and each team made only two points in the first overtime to make it 53-53. Don Sobotta sank the winning basket in the sudden death overtime. Canton's Dave Downey was high scorer for the night with 34 points.

Kewanee meets Peoria Spalding tonight for the sectional championship.

The only undefeated team still in the tournament was ousted as Moline trampled Alwood, 49-29, at Geneseo. Alwood had a 30-0 record going into the fray. Tom Potter hit 15 points for Moline, which meets the Fulton Steamers tonight.

Edwardsville is High Scorer
Ottawa's Jerry Varland netted 20 points to lead the Pirates to a 71-58 victory over Fairbury at La Salle and move Ottawa into the final against Tiskilwa.

Underdog Arcola used ball control tactics, taking only three shots in the final period, to upset Shelbyville, 62-59, at Decatur and move into the final against Decatur Eisenhower. Ed Harshbarger of Arcola led the scoring with 21 points.

Edwardsville ran up the night's high score in defeating Centralia, 92-87, at Wood River and advancing to the final against Jerseyville. Larry Washington topped the Edwardsville attack with 31 points and Mickey Scheriger was high for Centralia with 24.

At Aurora, Hinsdale nipped Elmhurst York, 54-53, on a basket in the final three seconds to move into the final against Aurora West. Wayne Millies of York took game scoring honors with 14 points.

Rockets Meet Forreston

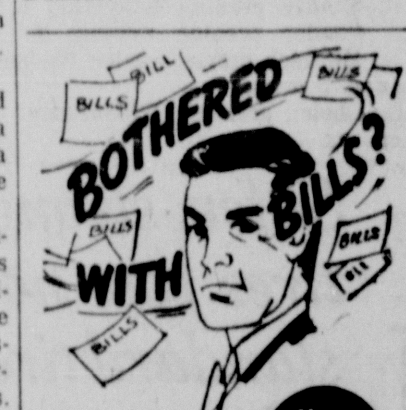

Elgin, paced by Jack Pflederer's 27 points, sent Warren to the sidelines at Arlington Heights with a 79-69 victory. Elgin meets Maine tonight.

At Thornton Harvey, the host team ripped Wilmington, 60-50, to gain a finals berth against Bradley.

In other games, Forreston ousted Freeport, 69-65, to gain the right to meet Rock Falls' once-beaten Rockets in the final at Rockford; Mason City upset Lincoln, 52-49, at Springfield and will meet Springfield tonight; Highland jolted Paris, 68-58, at Olney to move into the final against Oblong; Warsaw edged Mount Sterling, 72-71, and will meet Quincy in the Quincy final; and Danville Schlarman breezed past Urbana, 58-42, to advance to the final against Rantoul at Champaign.

The Chicago Public League play off for that city's spot in the Sweet Sixteen matches Marshall against Dunbar.
